

Doll House

Story 1 # The memory of the dream.

■ Doll house bed & child sleeping, you see her breathing

■ the screen comes in pushed? or by itself?

■ the dream appears on the screen on top of the sleeping girl. as soon as the screen has covered the whole bed.

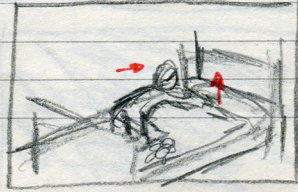

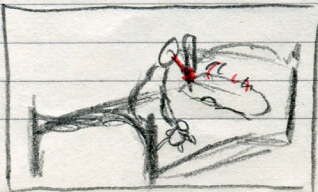

■ the dream:

the girl plays with her dolls. out of nowhere she hears a big "kreak" she reacts frightened, looks around her. Nothing has changed, so she plays along ○ panning the film around the bed to make it more dynamic while she plays.

■ the ~~child~~ <sup>blanket</sup> is moving. curious what causes that she lifts up the blanket. and sees their Red cat's head looking at her with sweet eyes.

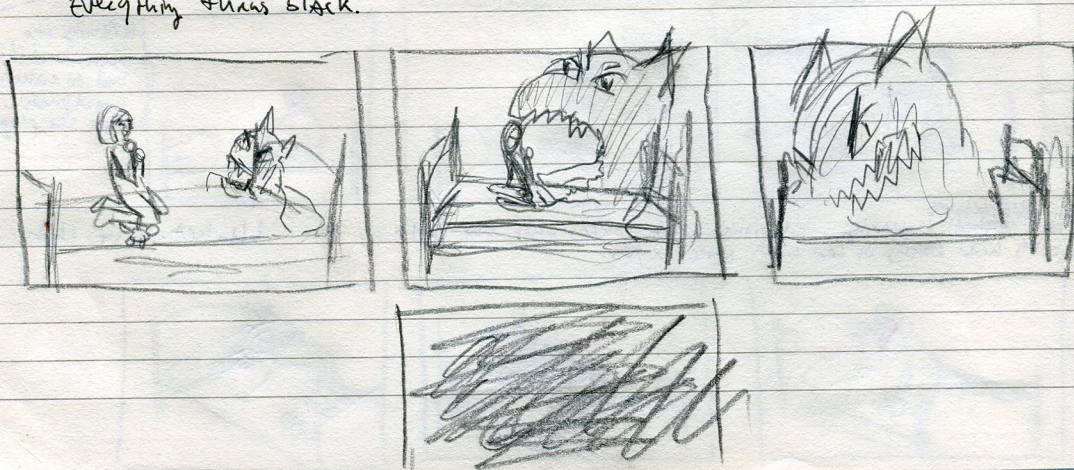

she really likes the cat and starts stroking him on the head and scratching behind the ears.
Suddenly she realizes that it is weird that the cat is under the blanket and ~~reacts~~ pulls the blanket away to see its body.
Shock! there is no body, only the head sticks out of the mattress.

When she looks below, she sees the cat sticks its head through a hole in the bed. she looks under her bed and realizes the cat has chewed his way through

When she looks up, the cat turned evil and spreads his mouth in a big monster mouth and eats the girl. Everything turns black.

2011 11/10

the ~~frame~~ <sup>screen</sup> leaves the frame, the dollhouse girl gets up, shadowed. the end?

or should I let her sleep just there around in her bed!

