

FADE IN:

INT. DAY

Opening shot of THE PARTY'S political LOGO, which is a symbol of vector light rays. The rays are cut from stainless steel and mounted on the wall THE CAMERA is facing.

THE LEADERS STEPS INTO FRAME.

THE LEADER

Hello, and welcome friends.
I trust you all have been
Anticipating this new moment in time.

A new moment, and with it, as we all know, a new future. The New Future.

It is time for us to step up and stride boldly into the new Future we all crave and to embrace our collective challenges.
In order for us to move forward, we must stride boldly and courageously.

CAMERA: SLOWLY PANS OUT TO REVEAL THIS IS BEING WATCHED ON TV, WITH MULTIPLE PEOPLE SITTING ON CHAIRS AROUND IT.

Our New future will ensure that the creative energy of our best and brightest is unlocked to its fullest potential.

We also intend to continue
maintaining stability between nations
and mutual co-operation between peaceful cultures.

Ultimately, we will value
the sovereignty of the individual,
while instilling in that individual
a respect for the rules that are the foundations of our society. We must seize the day to build on these foundations.

Today, the Kaleidoscope has been shaken.
The pieces will soon be in flux. Soon they will settle and we will have a new world, built around us.

CUT:

THE ADVISOR PRESSES A REMOTE AT THE TV. THE CAMERA IS NOW IN THE POSITION OF
THE TV FACING THE CHARACTERS STARING INTO IT.

THE ADVISOR

Woah, I don't remember this kaleidoscope line being in our agreed upon statement.

THE SCRIPT WRITER

I added it this morning, we felt the speech required an optimistic, yet ambiguous proclamation.

PAUSE---

THE DEPUTY

Once again, you seem incapable of sticking to the script.

THE LEADER

I think it's a great ending line, conveys a sense of our ambition. After all, what are we, if not ambitious?

COLLECTIVE MMS

THE DEPUTY

A point well made. The trouble is, we need to agree on such things, otherwise we have the will of a tiny collection of individuals. Although, having heard it spoken, I do feel it works.

THE ADVISOR

Next time, let's agree first. Ye... and it would serve you well to remember your place.

SLOW PUSH FORWARD TO THE CURTAINS.

THE LEADER WALKS OVER TO THE CURTAINS.

INT. GALLERY.

BRONZE STATUES IN ACRYLIC BOX placed around the room. SHOT: STATUE. CAMERA SLOWLY MOVES TO THE SIDE.

THE LEADER and THE ADVISOR walk together through the middle of the hall of these statues.

Your father was one of the wisest men I had the privilege of knowing. Do you know what he once told me? He said:
'the flower of freedom must have its thorns".

We must carefully cultivate This flower so it's stem can grown strong and resolute, standing opposed to those enemies of the state, who Seek to watch us divided.

We must continue to solemnly, but firmly, considering the magnitude of the acts we must undertake, stand in total solidarity together.

This infighting must stop. Or we risk becoming no better than a nest of snakes.

THE LEADER - slow nodding

We must show the same strength and fortitude here, at home, as we do abroad.

THE DEUPTY

The sowed seed of discord is present
everywhere we turn.

INT. Office.

Knock at the door

THE DEPUTY

THE ADVISOR

We've gathered you today, because we have come to the conclusion, solemnly, however fairly, that due to recent developments you are going to be expelled from The Party. With all privileges revoked.

The Deputy

My father, helped build this party, with his bare hands! And you have the insolence, to question my loyalty.

The Intern

You're a Turncoat!

The Advisor

Do you honestly believe that we don't see you, with your underhand comments, sly smiles and eye rolls. But we do... we're always watching.

The Leader

There's no doubt you were an important character in the past, but you've served your purpose! So do the decent thing, have some dignity and leave!

The Advisor

Don't you have anything to say for yourself?

The Leader

Your silence is deafening.

The Deputy

If... I... could just get some more time.

The Leader

Time waits for no man.

The Advisor

You of all people should know that by now?

Your views are... increasingly archaic. There's a future of this party and you are not in it.

The Intern

Your an antagonist!

The Leader

Out with the old, in with the new!

The Deputy

This is a show trial, and you all know it!

The Advisor

Our show... Your trial.